

Kingston, Ontario, December 1, 2022 – Do you believe in Santa? Domino Theatre sure does and is showing its Christmas spirit by bringing none other than Kris Kringle to the stage with its presentation of Miracle on 34th Street, The Play.

Adapted from the novel by Valentine Davies, as well as the 1947 Twentieth Century Fox motion picture, by the Mountain Community Theatre, Miracle on 34th Street, The Play is a heartwarming seasonal classic that is sure to bring out the jolly in theatre lovers!

“The children in it are just fabulous and so the audience will definitely be smiling throughout most of this play; there are some serious moments certainly but, it’s a lot of fun,” beams Director Valerie Winslow. “There’s going to be some music, of course. What would a Christmas play be without some Christmas carols? So, the audience may end up singing along, you never know.”

Winslow is also quite impressed with how the set design has come along: “It just looks amazing; just amazing!” Our set designer, Grant Buckler has just worked for hours and hours. His effort is so appreciated but, it also becomes so apparent when you see all of the integral parts of this play.”

Miracle on 34th Street, The Play will be presented, Thursdays through Saturdays, from December 1st – 17th at 7:30 p.m. (with the exception of Saturday, November 21st, which is a 2:00 p.m. matinée performance), in The Davies Foundation Auditorium at Domino Theatre, located at 52 Church Street in Kingston, Ontario.

Tickets are $20 for adults or $10 for children and students. They are available through The Grand Theatre box office by dialing 613.530.2050 or online via The Grand Theatre website, kingstongrand.ca. (Tickets are also available at the door on performance nights, except opening night which is sold-out!)

An assistive listening system is available for the hearing impaired community thanks to the Canadian Hearing Society (Kingston). Devices are available at the Domino Theatre box office.

Miracle on 34th Street, The Play is presented by permission of Dramatic Publishing.

About Domino Theatre
