How we're ensuring our volunteers and audience know how to keep themselves safe from COVID 19

- Volunteers receive health and safety training for each production
- Stage Managers and Producers communicate safety information and monitor adherence to guidelines for each production
- Domino's COVID 19 Working Group regularly checks health information and news to update our plan as needed
- Social media, Domino's website, emails, publications, and signage at the theatre inform our audience of safety measures

How we're screening for COVID 19

- All volunteers and ticket holders self-screen before coming to the theatre
- Signage is posted reminding everyone that entry is prohibited for those who don't pass COVID 19 self-screening
- Screening is conducted upon entering the theatre
- Contact tracing information is collected for all volunteers and ticket holders

How we're controlling the risk of transmission in our theatre

- Everyone is required to sanitize their hands upon entry
- Everyone in the theatre must wear a mask
- Capacity in the theatre is limited and physical distancing is observed in all areas
- Volunteers are provided with single-use masks, gloves, and face shields/eye protection
- Hand sanitizer is available throughout the theatre
- Signage is clearly posted with instructions on best practices to control the risk of transmission
- Updated cleaning procedures are in place throughout the theatre
- Playbills are available online or through contact-less distribution
- Concessions are not available at this time, and meet-and-greet events with cast and crew are not held at this time
- Tickets are available by advance purchase/assigned seating only, and the audience is admitted by group to the auditorium
- The house opens 15 minutes before curtain, and the audience is asked to remain seated once admitted to the auditorium
- Audience members should keep personal belongings (coats) with them at their seats

How we're making sure that our plan is working

- We collect feedback from volunteers and guests through a dedicated email address
- We review our plan frequently and make changes based on feedback or updated Public Health guidelines
